

GANG FORCES BANKER, FAMILY TO GO WITH THEM, ROB BANK $3,000

Bank at Mundelein, Ill., Robbed Second Time by Same Band After Kidnaping Banker and Family From Their Home

Chicago, Jan. 20.—(U.P.)—Five robbers kidnaped the entire family of M. C. Mott, cashier of the State Bank of Mundelein, took them to the bank today and held them six hours before rifling the vault and taking $3,000.

The gang was the same that kidnaped the family of father and mother and four children last April in exactly the same way and escaped with $10,000 of bank funds.

After locking the family in the bank basement, the gang loaded Paul Mott, eldest son, into their automobile and drove 10 miles to Wauconda, where they pushed him out. They threatened the youth with death if he spread an alarm.

"I heard a noise in a front room about 2 A. M. and looked in," Mott said. "There was the same gang that had pushed their way in last April. They had climbed through a window this time."

"We're back again," one of the robbers said. "Everybody is going for a little ride with us."

Mott said the family and Mrs. Mott's sister were taken to the basement of the bank and warned to keep quiet. The robbers took turns keeping a vigil on the prisoners and a lookout at the street level.

The time lock on the vault was set for 8:15 A. M. "They tried to compel me to open the vault but I told them I did not know the combination," Mott said. "Just then Sam Werthen, the teller, came in and the robbers seized him. They made him open the vault and took the money. Then they put Werthen in the basement with the rest of us and forced my son Paul to go along with them."

HINT MRS. JUDD NOT ALONE IN KILLING AS TRIAL CONTINUES

QUESTION OF DEFENSE COUNSEL IN EXAMINING PROSECUTIVE JURORS OVERRULED

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 20.—(U.P.)—The hint that Winnie Ruth Judd may try to show that she was not alone in the killing of Agnes Anne Leroy, if she admits she did it at all, was given today as Defense Counsel Herman Lewkowitz questioned a prospective juror.

It was promptly objected to by the state, and Judge Howard Speakman ruled the question out, so that Lewkowitz had no opportunity to hint more broadly at what he meant.

State counsel was on its feet in a body, shouting sharp objections which were promptly sustained, and the question went unanswered.

As the state explained its position later, it interpreted Lewkowitz' question as implying a possible accomplice, rather than hinting at Mrs. Judd's entire innocence, and the objection was made on the legal point that even had someone else committed the actual deeds, her guilt would have been as great had she been an accomplice "before or after the fact."

Family men past middle age, some with daughters as old as the defendant, probably will preponderate on the jury that will decide whether Annie Ruth Judd murdered Agnes Anne Leroy.

As the second day of Mrs. Judd's trial opened here fourteen of the necessary 29 qualified veniremen had been selected and among them was only one who did not have a family. This jurist was the only young man in the group.

The other 13 averaged about 50 years in age and had from one to 16 children.

FIVE-DAY BUSINESS HOLIDAY DECLARED BY URBANA MAYOR BRINGS CONFIDENCE TONE

By REGINALD C. HARMON
Mayor of Urbana
(Copyright, 1932, by United Press)

Urbana, Ill., Jan. 20.—(U.P.)—Our community was caught unexpectedly in the worst calamity ever felt here. Sinsister influences and malicious rumors had undermined the firm foundations of some Champaign and Urbana banks.

When the First National Bank, Champaign, and the Commercial State Bank, Champaign, failed to open for business, not because of insolvency but because of lack of cash caused by quiet runs extending over weeks, part of the local citizenry momentarily became alarmed. Runs were started on the remaining twin city banks, which, I believe, if allowed to continue, would have brought greater grief and a greater catastrophe to our community. Faith in our fellow men and in the future must not be shaken.

Although realizing that to close all business firms here would cost the community more than $75,000 daily, I believed that in the final reckoning two banks will continue to serve Urbana, and faith and confidence would be preserved by closing all business houses.

Not until after considering the good of all citizens did I decide to invoke the police powers of the mayor to close business firms, including the banks. Only those firms which dispense food supplies, drugs, transportation businesses, public utility agencies and newspapers are now functioning. For the rest of this week business in Urbana will be at a standstill while our leading citizens are restoring confidence.

I have firm belief and faith in Urbana citizens, as they had in me for two terms, and evidences already show that the hysteria which gripped some has subsided and turned into confidence.

Already more than 1,500 persons have pledged their entire deposits to the Busey State Bank and the First National Bank, Urbana, until some later date when normal deposits and normal withdrawals will be resumed.

1 KILLED IN CRASH AS UNION DRIVERS HALT BURIAL MARCH

CAR IN WHICH GIRL WAS RIDING WRECKED AFTER BEING ORDERED OUT FUNERAL CORTEGE

Chicago, Jan. 20.—(U.P.)—A 17-year-old girl was dead today and nine high school students injured as an indirect outcome of the fight by union chauffeurs to keep non-union driven automobiles out of funeral processions.

Shirley Pearman was injured fatally when the car in which she was riding with nine young people was wrecked in an accident after being ordered out of a funeral cortege.

The party of six girls and four boys was following a hearse carrying the body of their classmate, Louis Lakin, Tuley high school football star.

The car with scores of others was ordered out of the procession by drivers of the hearse in accordance with the recent union ban against persons driving their own machines in funeral processions.

A few minutes later, hurrying to get to the cemetery, the auto collided with a truck.

Burial rites for Mrs. Mathilda Johnson, mother of U. S. District Attorney E. Q. Johnson, were conducted without incident but a police squad car and a reporters' automobile were forced out of the procession on threat of the hearse drivers to "strike."

Borah Boom in Evidence by Non-Partisan G.O.P.'s

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 20.—(U.P.)—Senator William Borah of Montana was mentioned prominently today as the non-partisan Republicans gathered here for their state convention. It was expected they would select a possible endorsee in opposition to President Hoover in the presidential preference primary on March 15.

It was agreed that the regular Republicans will endorse President Hoover at their convention at Minot on Jan. 28. Although unwilling to make definite predictions, delegates said the convention undoubtedly would endorse some Republican candidate.

Despite the fact that Senator Hiram Johnson, Calif., had been discussed as a candidate, his persistent silence has resulted in a swing toward Borah. T. H. Thorson, Grand Forks, chairman of the Republican state central committee, was among the early arrivals at the convention.

CONVICTS RUSHED TO SCHALL FIRST TO LEVEES; NEW BREAK SALUTE SANBORN AS IMPERILS TOWNS

HUNDREDS OF FAMILIES REMAIN MAROONED AS STATE MOVES TO AID SUFFERERS

Jackson, Miss., Jan. 20.—(U.P.)—Another town lay at the mercy of flood on other town lay at the mercy of flood water today as a gap in the levee 18 miles north of Belonzi widened and permitted fresh torrents to sweep down on that community.

Greenwood, the other scene of a battle to bolster levees, was being flooded in north and east sections. Many residents abandoned their homes. A convict gang of 300 worked with citizens there. Belonzi and Greenwood are the two largest towns in the flood area, having a combined population of 15,000.

Hundreds of families remained marooned in the Tippecanoe Basin with their flight becoming more serious due to slowness in removal. Despite appeals for more boats, the number still was inadequate to permit prompt rescue.

The state's latest move to aid the stricken area came when Gov. Theo. Bilbo designated one of the Delta national guard companies as a boat contingent to transport refugees and food supplies. The governor asked the legislature to equip the company with three large barges and a fleet of outboard motor boats.

EX-CONVICT WANTED FOR SMUGGLING GUNS INTO PRISON HELD

BELIEVED TO HAVE MADE POSSIBLE BREAK FROM LEAVENWORTH LAST MONTH

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 20.—(U.P.)—Harold Fontaine, suspected of being the man who smuggled guns and ammunition into the federal prison at Leavenworth thus making possible the spectacular jail break last month when Warden Thomas E. White was kidnapped, is under arrest in Windsor, Ont. Fontaine, a former Leavenworth prisoner, is held for United States authorities.

In the Leavenworth break Warden White was kidnapped and wounded. Three of the prisoners who escaped later ended their lives when surrounded in a farm house. A guard was wounded. The other four prisoners were captured.

Fontaine, who has a long police record both in Detroit and Windsor, was released from the Leavenworth prison November sixth last. While there he worked in the shoe factory and met several of the prisoners who later made the abortive break. He learned large cans of paste were shipped into the factory without being inspected.

Investigators believe it was in these cans that the guns and ammunition was smuggled into the penitentiary.

MACHINE GUN YEGG HURLS DEATH THREAT AT ACTING GOVERNOR

Oklahoma City, Okla., Jan. 20.—(U.P.)—Acting Governor Robert Burns today received a death threat in an anonymous letter which he believed was mailed by Charles Arthur (Pretty Boy) Floyd, notorious Oklahoma machine gun bandit.

The letter was mailed from Altus at 3 P. M. yesterday. It was dated Sunday.

The letter follows:
"Robert Burns:
"You will either withdraw that $1000 or suffer the consequences. No kidding."

"I have robbed no one but the moneyed man."

The letter was not signed.

Monday, Burns posted a $1,000 state reward for the arrest and conviction of Floyd for whom a state wide manhunt is in progress. He is accused of robbing many banks.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—(U.P.)—Postponement of the conference between railroad presidents and leaders of railway labor until 10 A. M. tomorrow was announced at noon by D. B. Robertson, spokesman for the workers.

Robertson said the delay, the second today, was requested by the presidents because they had been unable to obtain figures asked by the labor leaders to clarify the railroads' demand for a 10 per cent pay cut.

St. Paul, Jan. 20.—(U.P.)—Federal District Judge John B. Sanborn, whose nomination to the eighth district circuit court bench by President Hoover was confirmed by the senate, today welcomed the relief from pressure of crowded district court calendars.

"The congestion in the district court has been pretty well advertised by now," Sanborn said. "One cannot concentrate on a decision with some attorney interrupting every few minutes."

Sanborn hopes to get enough time at his new duties to do some reading, hunting and fishing at his camp at the St. Croix river.

The first message of congratulation to Sanborn came from Senator Thomas D. Schall of Minnesota.

RECONSTRUCTION BILL TO SENATE THURSDAY

DRAG BAKERY HEAD FROM DENVER HOME, ASK $50,000 RANSOM

KIDNAPERS MENACE SIX PERSONS WITH REVOLVERS AND ABDUCT BENJAMIN BOWER

Denver, Colo., Jan. 20.—(U.P.)—Benjamin P. Bower, manager of a Denver baking company, was held for $50,000 ransom today after being kidnaped from his home.

Two men who entered the Bower home last night, menaced six persons with revolvers, and forced Bower to accompany them, threatened to take the life of the baking company manager if the ransom was not paid by noon today.

The men told Mrs. Bower that Stephen Knight, one of the owners of the bakery, "could put up plenty money for your husband's release."

Shortly after the kidnaping Roger D. Knight, vice president of the company, received a telephone call.

"I'm speaking for the same crowd that robbed your bakery the other night and I want to tell you we have kidnaped Mr. Bower," a man's voice said.

The Campbell-Sell Baking company, of which Bower is manager, was robbed of approximately $600 last Saturday.

Previous to entering the Bower home, the two kidnapers held up Mrs. G. H. Winbourn and Mrs. Clara Pool. The men forced the women to drive them to the Bower home.

At the Bower home the women were made to accompany the men to the door. When the door was opened they were forced inside by the men, who entered and threatened Bower, his wife and two guests, and the women with guns.

RECOMMENDS HIKE IN POSTAL RATES FROM 2 TO 3 CENTS

POSTMASTER GENERAL SAYS INCREASED REVENUE WOULD RELIEVE TREASURY

Washington, Jan. 20.—(U.P.)—Postmaster General Brown today recommended to the house ways and means committee that first class postal rates be increased from two to three cents.

Brown estimated that such an increase, putting letter mail back on the war-time rates, would bring in an additional $100,000,000 in postal revenues. "This would relieve the hard-pressed treasury of making up that much of the postoffice department's usual deficit," Congress had to appropriate $195,000,000 for this fiscal year to meet the postal deficit.

Brown was a witness in the committee's tax hearings after Dr. Thomas A. Adams of Yale university had testified that the Canadian system of a flat sales tax on all manufactured goods was "absolutely practicable for this country" and would raise a large amount of revenue.

Another of Mr. Hoover's relief projects is scheduled for immediate senate approval. It will enable Secretary Mellon to put $125,000,000 of treasury funds into the federal land bank system, which is without adequate capital now to continue to loan to farmers. Congress has earmarked $25,000,000 of the sum for a discretionary five-year moratorium on borrowers. The bill is ready now for final action and may reach Mr. Hoover tonight.

The treasury's ready to issue $100,000,000 on short term obligations to get the corporation going. It is entitled to $400,000,000 more from the treasury and may sell $1,500,000,000 of its own bonds or debentures.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE OFFICERS FOR 1932 TO BE ELECTED AT MEETING TONIGHT

Discussion of a program for the ensuing year will follow election of officers of the Chamber of Commerce at a meeting to be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

The new president will be seated with full power to name all committees. Every member of the organization is urged to be present.

Hearing of reports of committees for the past year's work and other routine business also appears on the docket of tonight's meeting.

WHY A CHAMBER OF COMMERCE—

Selection of officers of the Brainerd Chamber of Commerce is scheduled at tonight's meeting. While this all-important duty, quite naturally, is the first function of the chamber in its program of activities for the new year it goes without saying that an alert and united membership must gird itself behind the officers if the organization is to realize its purpose.

A chamber of commerce is an absolute necessity. However, it must hold and command the respect of every business man and woman in the community it serves. This point is imperative and must be realized more at this time than ever before.

Brainerd has a splendid opportunity to progress. Now, while business conditions are looking up, the responsibility for taking advantage of any and all opportunities rests with the Chamber of Commerce.

It is an organization of business commanded by business men with one purpose—to build the community they serve to the best advantage.

The Brainerd Chamber of Commerce has done very well with what it had at hand in recent years. It has been handicapped because of various conditions; suspicious business men who fail to comprehend the possibilities of such an organization, lack of funds because of the factor first named and, lack of a united community to back it up in its undertakings.

The Chamber of Commerce must become the dominant civic organization of any city. It cannot be restricted by members seeking selfish remuneration other than which would effect the entire community.

It will be interesting to watch developments. The paramount issue is that the citizenry get behind the organization in a most enthusiastic form not only so that it can capitalize upon the tourist resources but also look forward to industrial development so important to the future of Brainerd.

MAYOR TO INSTITUTE FREE EMPLOYMENT BUREAU

REGISTRATIONS TO BE TAKEN FRIDAY; MADE WORK URGED

THOSE ABLE TO PROVIDE WORK FOR CITY MEN URGED TO COOPERATE

Urging a made work program for the relief of unemployed men in the city, Mayor Harry W. Greger today took the initiative in providing a medium for unemployed to secure work.

The mayor's plan is the establishment of a free employment, through which men out of work may register and those who have work to give can place the work through the bureau.

The opening of the bureau is set for Friday. Clerks will be in the mayor's office between 8 a. m. and 5 p. m. Those desiring work and those desiring work be done should register at that time.

The mayor's office is located on the first floor of the city hall.

In the event of a popular demand for the bureau the office may be continued in the same location. If the work can be conducted without hardship on the city nurse's office it will be continued through her department.

In registering for work the men will be required to fill out a form which will provide information as to the number of dependents of the worker, the last time he was employed and what reserve capital he may have.

Mayor Greger advanced a plea that whatever householders have work to be done the men be employed through this bureau.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS OF CITY WILL COMPETE BIRTHDAY HONOR

In March of this year the Camp Fire organization will be 21 years old and each year at this time the national organization celebrates by offering a birthday honor which the girls may earn.

This year the honor has "Home" for its theme and the girls who earn this honor must fulfill five requirements out of 21.

A few of the requirements from which they may choose are:

Hold a council fire with home as the theme.

Make a count book showing the history of furniture or in more detail one period of furniture.

Make a four room doll's house of wood or cardboard and furnish it completely.

Make a sketch showing color scheme for a room accompanied by samples of draperies and chair coverings.

In cooperation with a local store set up an exhibit of a fully furnished room or a corner of a room.

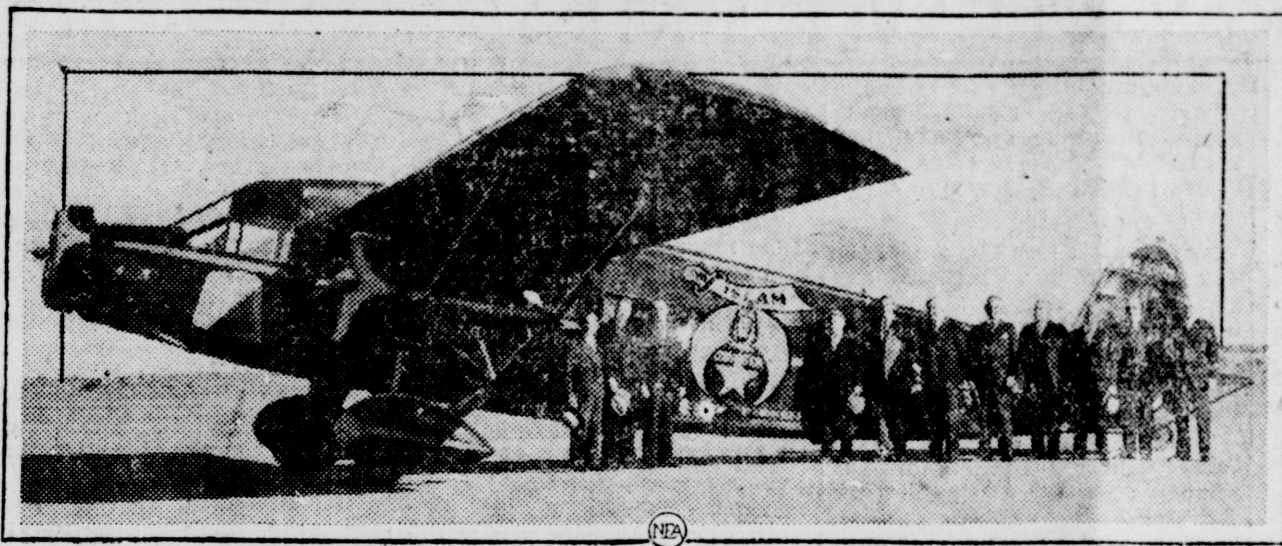

Five of the girls from the Oceonysa Camp Fire furnished a living room in the window of the Patek Furniture company through the courtesy of S. Newman. The girls were Ruth Hosmer, Harriet Hall, Geraldine Richards, Martha Sheets and Marilyn Sheets.

BIRD FEEDING IN WINTER VITAL--

It is very essential that an active winter feeding program be carried out by the general public in each county of Minnesota. This project should be started as early as possible now and continued until spring arrives. Unless assistance is given the birds a heavy mortality will result before warm weather comes.

The Division of Game and Fish of the state is planning an extensive bird feeding station program in all parts of the state. It will, however, be impossible for this program to be carried out this winter in its entirety and help from Minnesota's wild life enthusiasts is needed. Another winter will find a program sponsored by Director William D. Stewart carried out on augmented, state-wide plans.

Cold weather, sleet and snow make it difficult for wild birds who winter in Minnesota to secure necessary food. Vigorous birds, well fed, are able to withstand the rigors of severe winter weather, unless their food is too heavily covered with snow.

Sportsmen's organizations and other groups such as Boy and Girl Scouts, womens clubs, 4-H club units, farmers' organizations, civic clubs and various other bodies, can perform noble work in providing food for game and insectivorous birds during the cold winter months. The systematic feeding of birds is necessary to produce the best results. A comparatively small amount of money and a little time would assure the safe wintering of all the game birds and game animals in each community.

FATHER STANDS THE GAFF--

Father, says a Northwestern University professor who has been looking into the matter, is just a family football these days. He pays the bills but he gets kicked around, and if he's lucky his children tolerate him rather contemptuously so that they can have an ally when they get into a fuss with mother.

This sounds rather doleful, although it isn't especially new. It has served as the basis for innumerable jokes on the stage and in the funny magazines, and the idea probably occurred to harassed family men away back when the pyramids were being built. Every time a man arises to belabor the younger generation for its flighty irreverence he probably has something of the family football notion in his head.

So there isn't, perhaps, much sense in getting excited about it. For it is, and always has been, up to father to stand the gaff. That's what he's there for, and if he can't stand it, it's just too bad.

It would be nice, of course, if all of us could bring up children who would look upon us as oracles of serene wisdom and gentlemen of irreproachable kindness and chivalry. But we can't. We really aren't any of those things, and our children usually are smart enough to find it out.

Just at first, perhaps, we get away with it. A child of five or six has one idol, and that idol is Dad; and while it lasts, Dad gets a full dose of that peculiar mixture of pride, joy and uneasiness that always comes when one whom you love holds a wildly exaggerated idea of your merits.

But by and by the child gets older; and as he does so he discovers, sadly, that Dad—is just dad; a frail human being who is not especially wise or especially able or especially kind, and who looks a bit grotesque on any sort of pedestal.

So, in the course of time, father becomes, if not the family football, something faintly approximating it. He has to pay the price of his children's disillusionment. There's no help for it. His only escape would be to live up to all the things the youngsters feel about him in the beginning; and anyone who has ever been idolized by a six-year-old must know that that, unfortunately, is impossible.

COMMERCIAL SUBMARINES--

One of the most interesting bits of news of the winter has been the disclosure that Simon Lake, the famous submarine builder, is now testing a new "vest pocket" sub which will have a variety of strictly commercial uses, such as recovering lost treasure from the ocean floor and gathering in shellfish more rapidly and economically than surface ships can do.

It is interesting chiefly because it may mark the beginning of a useful sphere of activity for the submarine. Heretofore this type of craft—one of the most remarkably ingenious of all mechanical contrivances—has been almost exclusively a weapon, an agent of destruction. It is good to learn that efforts are to be made to find some work that it can do in time of peace, entirely unconnected with naval affairs.

WORTHY MEMORIALS--

The efforts of the American Tree Association to promote a nationwide planting of trees to commemorate the 200th anniversary of George Washington's birth seem to be meeting with a good deal of success. To date, more than 9,000,000 trees have been planted as a result of the campaign, and the work is still going on.

It goes without saying that this is a campaign which deserves the support of every citizen. For many decades the nation's one desire seemed to be to cut down its timber as fast as possible, with no thought for the future. A more sober and sensible viewpoint now prevails, and it is realized that the job of reforestation is one that simply must be undertaken.

The Washington bi-centennial tree planting campaigns not only provides a good way of honoring the memory of the nation's first president; it also seeks to arouse Americans everywhere to the need of increasing the country's supply of standing timber.

THREE KINDS OF LOVE

BY KAY CLEAVER STRAHAN

BEGIN HERE TODAY

ANN, CECILY AND MARY FRANCES FEWICK live with their grandparents. The sisters have been orphaned since childhood. The grandparents—known as "RO-SALIE" and "GRAND"—have long since lost their wealth and the household is supported by Ann's reason, Ann, 28, and PHILIP ECKROYD, young lawyer, are still postponing their marriage though they have been engaged 8 years. Cecily, 22, is in love with BARRY WICKLEY, an engineer, but when he proposes she refuses to name the wedding date because she cannot leave Ann with the financial responsibility of the home.

Mary-Frances, 15, and still in school, strikes up an acquaintance with EARL DEARMOUNT, stock company actor. She meets him secretly and he tries to persuade her to become his partner in a vaudeville act.

Phil takes Ann to dinner. A girl who has never seen before sends him a note. Phil's explanations are vague. On the way home he stops at a garage where some engine trouble. LETTY KING, who wrote the note, and KENNETH SMITH, her escort, come along in another car. Letty addresses Phil with endearments and Ann, angry, gets in Smith's and asks him to take her home.

Miss Lane, a teacher, reports that Mary-Frances is neglecting her school work.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXX

AS the door closed, Ann looked up from the ironing, and Cecily turned from the shelves. Cecily said, "Goodness, Ann! I didn't know she was going. I'm afraid we hurt her feelings. I forgot to listen. We didn't even tell her we were glad about the Carmichaels, did we?"

"She talks too much," Ann said, but faintly defensive.

"I know. But she means to be so much better than she is. So does Grand. They both do."

Ann said, "I think I'll go to see Miss Lane this afternoon."

"I wish you would. I'd go, but Barry is coming early."

"Phil thinks Mary-Frances is boy struck."

"What of it? She's a normal, healthy girl of 15."

"We weren't boy struck at 15," said Ann.

"We were so worried and so busy. Still, I do remember a little Jewish boy named Milton; and what about a handsome Carl was his name, wasn't it, Ann?"

"Dear me!" Ann almost smiled. "I hadn't thought of him for years. His father was a butcher—I hated that. Cissy, does it impress you that Grand and Rosalie have suddenly begun, of late, to talk a lot about our being married? They ever used to. Lately they drag it in by the scruff of the neck whenever they talk to us. Or—don't they?"

"Phil's changed his mind," Cecily laughed as she went toward the hall.

She was still laughing when she returned to the kitchen, with a big beribboned box from a florist's in her arms. "Hurrah for the one!" she said. "Oh, Ann, what did I tell you? Here, and hence to the thinking of that just now when Rosalie was talking. I decided it was for one of two reasons. Either they are trying to find out whether Barry and I are engaged—"

"Are you?"

"No—not really. Oh, angel, the way things are now with Barry and me is simply almost too perfect. I—"

"Yes, I know, honey. But you said one of two reasons. What is the other reason?"

"I don't know exactly. But I sort of wondered if at last they had waked up a little. Got hold of the fact that we kept things going here and were, perhaps, worried—frightened?"

ANN shook her head. "Well? But I don't want to tell them I'm sure I can't tell them anything with us to marry."

"Yes, I know. But don't you see—they would? Seem to, I mean. They'd think just far enough to declare that they wouldn't stand in the way of our happiness; but they wouldn't go on and think about what they would do if we went off and left them. They might feel worried and frightened, but they wouldn't allow themselves to think it—much less say it. They are that way with everything. Right now they are both planning a lifetime ahead of them. They won't recognize death—they won't so much as nod to it."

Ann sighed. "I don't know what I'll tell them about Phil and me. They'll question so."

"Don't tell them one word about it. Phil's busy—something of that sort. He has been busy a lot lately. Cecily stopped for a second, tried to take that back, could not, and went on: "They don't really notice much, ever. Sometimes they just pretend to. Don't say a word, and before they've missed Phil at all he'll be back again."

"No. No, he won't. Not ever. We're all through, Phil and I."

"Angel! Isn't that silly! You've had quarrels before."

"Not like this one. And before. I've cared so dreadfully, Cissy. I've been so crushed—so hurt. Now I'm just sort of light feeling and free. I can't explain it. There's the bell again. You answer it, will you, Cissy? I don't want these napkins to dry out."

"Phil's changed his mind," Cecily laughed as she went toward the hall.

She was still laughing when she returned to the kitchen, with a big beribboned box from a florist's in her arms. "Hurrah for the one!" she said. "Oh, Ann, what did I tell you? Here, and hence to the telephone." She took the iron from Ann's hand and pushed the box into her arms.

Ann stood still and held the cardboard thing as she might have held a baby. She closed her eyes and bit at her lower lip, trying not to moan with the surging pain of relief it had been only a mad nightmare. She was loved. Phil loved her. There was no loneliness, no fear. He would be with her soon, and his arms would hold her in strength and safety, and his lips would give her all of life again.

Cecily's voice, still laughing, was urging her to open it. She could laugh now. Laugh forever and always—she and Phil together. She put the box on the table, and as her fingers tugged at the bow she thought that everything could be explained—or forgiven. It was so easy to forgive.

Cecily said, "Oh, Ann—the beautiful! And smell 'em!"

Ann, at last, let the air out of her tightened lungs, and it made a queer, suffering sound as she said, "He shouldn't have—" because there were such masses of them, down there in the green, shading from creamy white to deep rose. Water lilies, so rare, so different. And Phil had remembered how she loved them and had got them and sent them to her—all the water lilies in the world. She reached for the card. She hoped that Cecily would not notice how her hands were shaking. She hoped that Phil would not be the first to say that. He had not have sent a card—the water lilies said all that he'd ever needed to say.

"For my inspirational girl," she read. Below that, neatly engraved, were a few meaningless words: Mr. Kenneth Homer Smith."

ANN said, "I came to talk to you for a few minutes about my little sister, Mary-Frances Fewick, if you can spare the time, Miss Lane."

Miss Lane, portly, comfortable looking, poised always as a sternly matter-of-fact middle-aged person, answered, "Yes, indeed. Come in, won't you? I'm so glad you came. Miss Fewick. So glad." She overdid it because she was not at all glad to have Ann come, and because the tragic look in Ann's white face and dark eyes reinforced her conviction that parents (relatives in general always came under this classification) were idiots. She feared that this interview was going to be difficult. She had promised those lovely, sweet old people this morning that, if either Ann or Cecily should talk to her, she would not tell them about the silly and well, not so nice poetry box.

found written in Mary-Frances' notebook. Copied, she thought, let sure, hoped and trusted. Not original—surely not! Oh, no—not original!

The dear old gentleman had said, "We shall inform Mary Frances' sisters of her failure to make her customary high grades. That is their due. Yes. We shall need to tell them so much in order to discuss the matter of our little one's health. Also, they may be able to assist her, from time to time, with her studies. But of this—more delicate question, we shall say nothing. Nothing. They themselves are young. A bit impetuous—a bit, may I say, censorious. Youth, as you know, my dear lady, is a stern disciplinarian. My wife and I will deal with this situation. Yes. But with tact. With gentleness. With diplomacy..."

SOMEWHERE, in the midst of it, though Miss Lane could not now recall where nor reason why, she had given her promise of secrecy; and here she was in a pretty predicament. A lady, and a professing Christian, neither told lies nor broke promises.

It was not particularly difficult. Ann was readily satisfied. Only one evasion was necessary; one snowy and small white lie did the trick. Dr. Tureck himself had said this morning that to give needless pain was (not a sin, Dr. Tureck was far too nice to mention sin) a grievous fault. Troubling and worrying further that pretty Ann Fewick, already, apparently, so deeply troubled and worried, would surely be worse than telling one little fib.

"Promise me now," Miss Lane said to Ann as they stood together under the winding, drooping wisteria on the porch, "not to worry about this. Mary-Frances is a nice bright child. She'll come out all right."

"I'll not worry," Ann said. "I'll watch her diet."

"You aren't looking so very well yourself," Miss Lane sympathized.

"I am well, extraordinarily well. Such a beautiful spring this year, isn't it? I don't remember such a beautiful spring—ever before. Sunshine. So much sunshine, I mean, and—well, so much sunshine and brightness and birds and sunshine and all."

Same old story, Miss Lane decided, as she returned to her spick-and-span living room; pretty girls never had a lick of sense; not a lick. Ann Fewick, she supposed, affected that tragic air. Well, it was a blessing that Mary-Frances had those wise, charming old people to guide her.

The following assistance not already reported was noted. Garments donated by Mesdames Fallquist, Oscar Erickson, Floyd Hall, I. Ginsburg, F. A. Kufus, John Erickson, Hugo Olson, Frank Little, K. S. Bredenberg, E. W. McCulloch, E. O. Webb, S. Newman, J. P. Smith, P. A. Johnson and the Misses Lena Arnold and Marie Lawrence and other friends. The following have assisted as clerks or with sewing: Mesdames A. Zimmerman, Oscar Erickson, Floyd Hall, Arthur Schiel, C. N. Erickson, J. H. Herber, George Berkholder, C. W. Hoffman, F. W. Wieland, A. M. Opsahl and O. Spencer.

The social chairman has been assisting the past week by Mrs. B. A. Butler, Dr. Gladys Trommald and a committee representing the D. A. R., Mmes. C. D. McKay, F. W. Wieland, Louis Knudsen, and Fred Parker. Coffee has been donated by the A. & P. store, the Friendly Co. and Herbert Paine.

Donations of clothing have been contributed by women's organizations of the following churches: Methodist, Baptist, Congregational, Presbyterian and Bethlehem Lutheran.

Louis Hostager and John Nesbit have each loaned a sewing machine. The Center has three sewing machines and could use another.

Mrs. Ludlow, assistant secretary, reported that on January 7, 12 and 14 352 garments were checked in and 262 given out. At the meeting held previously, approximately 700 garments were given out. A large number of garments had been stored during the summer in the city hall. These, and left overs from rummage sales had been turned over to the Center and they were all distributed generously. During December, owing to the rush of work and incomplete organization an accurate record was not kept. The Center will be glad to be reminded of any assistance which has not been noted but assurance is given the friends of the Friendly Center, it has all been appreciated.

It was voted that the Center open a department for mending shoes and one for mending furniture. The Center is to learn where equipment for the same can be obtained. Donations of unneeded furniture will be gladly received. For use in the Center itself, donations of kitchen chairs to be used at the machines will be appreciated.

Mrs. Robert Elder will be in her office at 1 p. m. on Tuesday and Friday to give out tickets for the Friendly Center.

New Negligee Flows to Chic

BY JOAN SAVOY

NEA Service Writer

You may honestly prefer a serviceable tailored flannel dressing gown and you may go in heavily for plain wearable lingerie and sleep in pajamas. But nothing can flatter a deflated ego more effectively than a luxurious, utterly feminine outfit of underwear and negligee.

Pastel colored crepe or satin things, with ceru Alencon lace, settle the matter for you this season. The vogue for dyeing the lace exactly to match the color of the crepe is not so good for underthings. There is a certain off-white, almost the delicate tone of those tea roses that may be white, may be pink or may be yellow. This looks absolutely elegant with the same tone lace and if you're a bride or if you like near-white thies and that, you will love outfits of this type.

Flowing Negligee Enters Smart Wardrobes

However, peach colored crepe, with ceru lace, is hard to beat. New "sets" include a variety of combinations of pieces to select from. There are nightgowns, panties, slips and bed-jackets and slips, panties and bras. One of the neat tricks is to have a long, fitted, flowing negligee and a trim, fitted combination to wear under it.

This one is made of deep peach colored satin, with rich trimming in Alencon lace in ceru shade. The dressing gown fits nicely, when shut, has a luxurious yoke and long sleeves of the lace and a deep flounce of the lace, too. The sleeves are tight fitting and look ultra smart with the flowing lines of the garment.

Under this a fitted princess combination of the peach satin has a yoke and lower edging of the lace and some of the oak leaves of the design let into the garment for additional decorative touches.

Gilbert Lake

Weather Delays Ice Harvest

This is the time when the neighbors are supposed to put up ice, but the weather has been too mild to thicken the ice sufficiently. Several have cleared the snow from the ice in order that it may freeze to the proper thickness.

Farm Bureau in Meet

The last Gilbert Lake Farm Bureau Unit met at Gordon school. The attendance was rather light, owing no doubt to the storm and condition of roads, but at that an interesting meeting is reported. The next meeting of the Unit is to be held at Krech school February 8th.

Honor Mrs. Peterson

The Gilbert Lake birthday club met at the home of Mrs. A. N. Lovsted on Thursday afternoon, Jan. 14, to celebrate the birthday anniversary of Mr. Peterson and to reorganize the club for project work. They chose for their subject: "Poultry Raising."

The following officers were elected: First Leader, Mrs. A. N. Lovsted; Asst. leader, Mrs. John Gibson; Pres., Mrs. C. Skillings; Sec., Mrs. Earl Wagner; Lunch Committee, Mrs. Coleman Miller, Mrs. C. Skillings and Mrs. Robert Jordan.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. W. Hilliard in February, the date to be announced later. The making of chick feeders will be the order of the day.

The ladies are to arm themselves with lumber and tools, ready for the ordeal of transforming said lumber to something resembling chick feeders.

James Coffield is Head Farmers' Club

Esdon—The farmers' club meeting was held at the Nokay Lake hall last Thursday. A large crowd was present. Officers for this year elected were: President, James Coffield; vice president, Arthur Peterson; secretary, Mrs. Arthur Johnson; treasurer, Mrs. Fred Bock. Pogram committee for next meeting: Fred Bock, Mrs. John Veit and Mrs. Arthur Johnson. The men are asked to serve the dinner at the next meeting, Feb. 11. E. G. Roth and Mr. Knutson of Brainerd were speakers last Thursday. A wonderful time was reported.

Jim Coffield was re-elected manager of the Shipping association.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Coffield and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Veit of Esdon

BEGINNING CLASSES IN FIRST PRIMARY START JANUARY 25

CHILDREN SIX YEARS OLD BY JUNE 1 MAY ENROLL FOR OPENING CLASS

Monday morning, January 25, beginning classes in first primary will be started at the Lincoln, Harrison, Lowell and Whittier schools, Superintendent of Schools W. C. Cobb announced today.

All parents having children who will be six years old by the close of the current school year, June 1, and who desire their children to enter school at this time should plan to have the children enrolled on the opening day. Parents may secure information and enrollment slips from the principals or first primary teachers of the several buildings at any time now, and it would be an accommodation to the schools to have these registration slips filled out this week, in order that the principals may make their plans as to the number of pupils who will apply for entry at this time.

If the number of entering pupils in any ward is not too large, principals may enroll pupils who will be six years old in June, if the accommodations at the buildings appear to warrant such action.

FOSTER ENIGMA OF LITTLE FALLS AS B. H. S. WINS, 27 TO 22

BRAINERD FORGES INTO WIDER GAIN NEAR GAME'S END

WARRIORS LEAD IN NIP AND TUCK BATTLE, 27-22; PREPARE FOR STAPLES

Brainerd's Warriors were back in their own domain today following a 27-22 victory over Little Falls on the latter's floor last night in a cage game that was closer than the score indicates.

The Brainerd high school bested their downriver opponents only after a close battle. The score widened with the entry of Elmer Foster for the first time of the game in the third quarter.

Foster's eye for the Little Falls cage was uncanny. He forced a wider breach in the score and gave Brainerd a safe lead to finish the game without being forced.

The victory gives Brainerd a promising start for this week's cage games. Two other stiff battles face the Warriors. Friday night the team opposes Staples on the latter's floor and Saturday night the locals entertain Fargo, N. D., high school at the Washington high school gymnasium.

Foster went scoring wild in the last part of the third quarter and during the final quarter. He found the Little Falls cage for six field goals. So active was he in the play during the short time in the game that the referee called three personal fouls on him.

Wisconsin Pucksters Fail to Halt Gophers

St. Paul, Jan. 20.—(U.P.)—The University of Minnesota hockey team overwhelmed the University of Wisconsin six in the opening Big Ten game last night by a score of 10 to 1.

Only spectacular work by Goalie Blumenthal of Wisconsin prevented the scoring from being much higher as the Gophers excelled in speed, checking and shooting.

Schaeffer led the Gopher scorers with three goals. Meikeljohn, Wisconsin defense man, was the outstanding player on the Badger team, moving from defense to offense in Wisconsin's only threats.

New York, Jan. 20.—(U.P.)—Steve Hamas will meet Armand Emanuel, California heavyweight, in a 10-round bout at Olympic Auditorium, Los Angeles, Feb. 15, Hamas' manager, Chas. Harvey, announced last night.

Harvey said he had wired last night his acceptance of the match to H. A. "Wad" Wadhams, matchmaker for the auditorium. In previous negotiations, Wadhams had assured him that Emanuel had agreed to the match, Harvey said.

Hamas and Harvey will depart for California early in February.

Paris, Jan. 20.—Primo Carnera, the Italian heavyweight boxer, arrived today from his home village, Segual, Italy, to begin training for his 10-round bout with the French giant, Moise Bouquillon, next Monday. ### UNBEATEN LEADERS VIE IN CUE TOURNAY

Chicago, Jan. 20.—(U.P.)—The world's 3-cushion billiard championship tournament entered its second round today with the defending titleholder, three former champions, the world's greatest balling player and an outsider tied for the lead.

The six unbeaten leaders at the end of the first round were Arthur Thurnblad, Chicago, present champion; Johnny Layton, Sedalia, Mo.; Otto Reisel, Philadelphia, and Augie Kieckhefer, Chicago, the former titleholders; Jake Schaefer, San Francisco, the ballking; and Frank Scoville, 53, Buffalo, playing in his second world's championship tournament.

It was Scoville who supplied the first upset of the tournament when he defeated Allen Hall, Chicago, tournament favorite, yesterday, 50-42 in a 58-minute match lasting 2 hours, 35 minutes. Scoville's slow, deliberate tactics completely unnerved Hall, causing him to lose control.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN IMPRESSARIO SAYS SCHMELING-SHARKEY GO SETTLED

New York, Jan. 20.—(U.P.)—"Let us repair," said James Joy Johnston to a group of sports writers after yesterday's vital meeting of the New York boxing commission, "let us repair to a nearby tavern and be refreshed. And while being refreshed let us talk amongst ourselves."

Ever ready to talk, not to mention be refreshed, the sports writers, headed by Mister Johnston, trooped into a nearby tavern. There was quite a bit of refreshing done but powerful little talking "amongst ourselves." For three minutes after he had taken his ease Mister Johnston, as is his custom, broke into a monologue that was interrupted only occasionally, and then by nothing longer than a question or a brief statement of fact.

"Yeah," said Mister Johnston, "you needn't have any worries about where the fight'll be held. Schmeling and Sharkey will fight right here in New York and the Garden'll promote. And do you know what those boys'll draw? One million dollars. Yes, sir, one million dollars."

Someone managed to break through Mister Johnston's defense and point out (A) that the pair of 'em couldn't do better than $750,000 in 1930 (B) that the Dempsey-Sharkey thing, the perfect fight so far as ballyhoo was concerned, and with Tex Rickard in full swing, had a tough time topping a million and (C) that 1932 is not exactly a year that will be remembered for its loose money.
